USW, Industry Meet In Joint Peace Talks

Finnegan Still Sees
No Hope for Early
Strike Settlement

NEW YORK (AP) — The first joint peace talks between industry and union since the start of the nationwide steel strike open here today under the auspices of federal mediators.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, reiterated his warning that no early or easy settlement of the 13-day-old strike appears likely.

Finnegan, who arranged the joint talks last week, said on his arrival from Washington Sunday night: "They can't settle this strike by not talking."

Heading the negotiating teams for today's talks are David J. Mc-Donald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, and R.
Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of the United States Steel Corp.

The strike of 500,000 members of the United Steelworkers has shut down plants that produced almost 90 per cent of the nation's steel.
The stoppage has idled an estimated 78,000 employees in other industries, with railroads the hardest hit.

The union's demands include a 15-cent-an-hour package increase in each year of a new contract, plus fringe benefits. The industry, rejecting the demands, contends that an increase in labor costs would force a rise in steel prices and thus help spur inflation. The union contends that industry profits and increased productivity make a wage rise possible without a price increase. Prestrike wages averaged $3.10 an hour.

11 Persons Die In Ohio Traffic

Three Killed In Airplane Crashes

By The Associated Press
Traffic
Drowning
Miscellaneous
Total

Pleasant weekend weather attracted Ohioans to the road, to the water, to the air—and sometimes to the scene of their death.
As usual, traffic accidents claimed the most lives between 6
p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday —11 in all. Two persons drowned and three others died in plane crashes. One person was fatally injured in a fall.

No deaths were recorded Friday night. However, there were nine Saturday.

In two cases Saturday, the fatality followed an automobile chase.
At Springfield, policeman Leroy Warren was killed when his cruiser spun out of control and hit a utility pole while he and his partner pursued a speeder.

A driver fleeing sheriff's Deputies in downtown Columbus ran a red light and crashed into the car of Harold J. Nichols, 46, killing him and injuring his wife.

Board Plans Policy On Vaccination Law

The Salem Board of Education plans to form a uniform policy in putting into effect the new immunization law passed by the Ohio
General Assembly. E. S. Kerr, Kerr, school superintendent, said today.

The law, which became effective July 7 requires children entering school for the first time to be immunized against polio, smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

The board will consult with physicians and health authorities regarding the health program, Kerr said.

The cooperation of parents of children who will be entering kindergarten or first grade this autumn, will be an important factor in getting the program underway. Doctors, health and school authorities, will lend all possible assistance in helping parents to understand the program, Kerr
said.

Castro Returns to Cuban Premiershship

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro, swept back into the Cuban premiership as expected, by an enormous popular demonstration, served notice Sunday night he will be friends with the United States only if the United States does not get in his way.

The spectacular crowd estimated at nearly a million cheered wildly as he told them he would bow to "the will of the people" and resume office. The demonstration again underscored that the bearded, 32-year-old revolu-

Nixon Proves Match For Red Premier

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon is proving himself a match for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in the opinion of several Congress members.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, said Nixon is "making the best of a very difficult and delicate situation during his visit to Moscow."

"He is rolling with the punches thrown at him by Khrushchev," Mansfield said. "He is also sending back some good punches."

Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.), a former ambassador, said in a separate interview he thinks Nixon has matched Khrushchev in "directness and toughness in their informal, caustic exchanges."
"Nixon is doing exactly what is needed," Cooper said. "He's talking the only kind of language Khrushchev can understand."

Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.) said in a statement that Nixon's verbal encounter with Khrushchev was "a superb example of courage and intelligence."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), the Senate GOP leader, told a television audience he thinks Nixon has helped both himself and the nation by his actions, and added:
"Frankly, I'm quite proud of his performance in the Soviet Union."

Nixon and Khrushchev engaged

British Want Allies to Cut Terms for Pact

U.S. and France
Hold Firm Against Such Concessions

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and France were reported holding firm today against British pressure to cut down Western terms for a Berlin agreement with the Soviet Union and clear the way for an early summit conference.

As the Big Four foreign ministers conference moved into its ninth week, U.S. and British officials sought to play down the difference and deny any threat to allied unity.

Some privately conceded, however, that the maneuvering has created an appearance of weakness under Soviet hammering on critical Berlin and German issues.

Associates said Secretary of State Christian A. Herter is still determined to try to get an agreement from the Soviets Andrei A.
Gromyko to protect West Berlin.
He is reported equally determined not to accept any deal which will put a deadline on Allied rights
there.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, who conferred with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan over the weekend, reportedly believes that limited assurances already offered by Gromyko are the best the West can hope for and should be accepted conditionally.

The condition, British informants said, is that the U.S.S.R. for the time being drop its demand for agreement on direct unification negotiations between the West German and Communist East German governments. All three Western powers were reported agreed that this price demanded by Gromyko for a stopgap Berlin settlement is completely unacceptable.

Lloyd took the lead today in sounding out Gromyko on the possibility of a change in the Soviet position. He arranged a luncheon meeting with him to be followed by a meeting of the Western Big Three and West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano.

Lloyd and Macmillan believe a summit meeting sooner or later is inevitable. They would like to get it on the basis of some agreement on Berlin here even though that falls short of what the West is asking.

Herer and President Eisenhower feel it is vital to stand absolutely firm in the face of Soviet threats even if there is no summit meeting. They believe the minimum the United States can accept is a Soviet pledge — with no time limit on it — not to take any action to interfere with Western occupation rights in West Berlin. The French view is said to coincide with the American.

City to Retain Portion Of Patrol Fines Here

A financial plum worth about $12,000 was taken away from the city last week and given back to Salem. Actually, the city hadn't lost the money and the county was not expecting it until next year.

Ohio Senators Friday OK'd a House-approved measure enabling mayors to retain jurisdiction over traffic violations on state highways within their municipalities.
Such jurisdiction was scheduled to end next year. The county judges were to handle these violations.

The bill, as far as Salem is concerned, keeps the city's red-inked 1960 budget from sliding deeper into the hole, although many State Patrol cases now being heard in mayor's court will be transferred.
At the present time, the city is

Schools Gain State Monies

Salem Share $11,868;
2 Districts to Lose

The Ohio General Assembly Friday passed a measure which will make the Salem public school system richer by $11,868 annually.
This was the controversial measure revising the Ohio School Foundation Fund.

This fund revision and the reappraisal of Columbiana County's real estate taxes, will help to brighten the financial picture of the local Board of Education for the coming year.

The measure increases subsidies to school districts from $364 million dollars for the two-year period just ended to $413 millions in the next two years.

Before a school district may be eligible for this foundation aid it must levy 12½ mills for school purposes. All districts in the county now levy at least that amount.
The Salem district levies 14.4 mills.

All but two schools in Columbiana County stand to reap financial gains from the passage of the measure.

The two districts in the county which lose money are Fairfield -

1 Dead As Trucks Crash on Turnpike

One man was killed and another was seriously injured today in an early morning rear end collision involving two trucks on the Ohio Turnpike near the Warren interchange.

Turnpike authorities identified the dead man as Gary F. Reinert,

21, of Plazo, Ill. He was a passenger in the truck driven by his stepfather, Milo F. Lloyd, 42, of Plazo.

Lloyd suffered multiple injuries and was reportedly taken to St.
Joseph's Hospital in Warren.

Driver of the other truck, Peter Weber, 51, of Lincoln Park, Mich., was not injured.

The Turnpike Patrol said the impact of the collision at 3:30 a.m. between Lloyd's tractor-trailer, carrying poultry, and Weber's semi, carrying rolls of steel, crushed the Lloyd cab. It took two hours to remove the victim from the wreckage.

The crash, which occurred four miles east of the Warren exit, blocked one lane of traffic.

A spokesman for the Turnpike Patrol said manslaughter charges were not expected to be filed as a result of the fatal accident.
The investigation is still under way,
however.

T. F. Crawford Was Testing Craft At Time

William Richey
Seriously Burned
Attempting Rescue

Theodore F. Crawford, 29, of Petersburg was killed at approximately 3 p.m. Sunday when his small single engine plane stalled and spun in from about 1,000 feet on the Channing Mercer farm, one mile south of Petersburg in Mahoning County.

Crawford, the father of two children, was alive when taken from the flaming wreckage, but died on way to South Side Hospital in Youngstown.

William Richey, a nearby farmer who witnessed the crash, rushed to the scene and after two unsuccessful attempts, managed to pull Crawford from the burning plane. Richey was burned seriously in the rescue and is reported in fair condition at South Side Hospital.

Crawford, a former Air Force engineer, was testing the light plane in preparation to having it licensed. He and a brother-in-law had just spent 14 months reconditioning the plane. Crawford had logged more than 400 hours flying time in other aircraft.

Survivors include his wife,
Elaine; a daughter, Elaine Rae,
4; and a son, Michael Scott, aged 1.

Several other relatives were on the ground watching Crawford test the plane when the accident occurred. The victim's wife and children were visiting in Pittsburgh at the time.

Local CAP Unit on Duty

A Salem Civil Air Patrol squad was placed on guard duty at the scene at 7:30 last night. Investigaency were expected to arrive today.

Born in Youngstown, April 19, 1930, Crawford was the son of Lawrence and Olive Johnson Crawford of Petersburg. On Nov. 24, 1950, he married Elaine Gibson.

A 1948 graduate of Springfield Township High School, he also attended Youngstown University. He served as a staff sergeant in the Air Force with the engineers in-

A resident of this area most of his life, he was employed as a

Education to Cost State Half Billion

Schools Get Large Appropriation

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Education alone will cost the state nearly half a billion dollars in the next two years.

As usual, schools received the lion's share of general legislative appropriations—more than 45 per cent.

The administration figured the cost to Ohioans at $25.41 a year for 1,930,279 students, all but about 200,000 of them in public schools. Others attend state universities, schools for the blind and the deaf and vocational classes.

Before the 103rd General Assembly quit work Friday, members approved 413 million dollars in state subsidies for public schools. That was 49 million more than the 364 million appropriated two years ago.

Sponsors said 27 million dollars of the increase was for larger enrollments and 22 million to fortify the school program.

The foundation program guarantees an approved level of education in public schools.

School districts failing to raise enough revenue from property taxes to meet the foundation level receive additional aid from the state to meet the standard.

Districts with high tax duplicates, yielding revenue in excess of the foundation level, do not receive additional aid. But the non-additional aid districts receive a minimum guarantee, often called a flat distribution, from the state.

Starting Jan. 1, the new school law will increase the minimum guarantee for Ohio's 214 non-additional aid districts from $1,925 to $2,000 for each teacher unit of 30 pupils. Those districts include 31,000 units.

A total of 805 districts, embracing some 36,000 teacher units, will receive additional aid.

All the districts were assured of at least a $75 increase for each of their teacher units.

The new law will do these things for the additional aid districts: Boost operating unit allowances for books, heat, light and similar expenses from $1,425 to $1,600.

Increase annual teacher salary allotments $500 to $650 to districts for pay raises according to local schedules.

Raise minimum teacher salaries between $500 and $700 a year, starting next year, although some districts may find it hard to meet that provision.

The new law led a string to state grants, starting Jan. 1, 1961. After that date districts must levy at least 10 mills in property taxes to receive any state money under the foundation program.

The old law contained no mandatory millage requirement. But a 10-mill charge-off was used in figuring district subsidies. That meant the sum would have been raised from 10 mills was used in figuring grants to districts.

If that charge-off did not bring a district to the foundation level, the state made up the difference. But starting next year, he charge-off will be reckoned at 12½ mills and prevail until the mandatory 10-mill levy requirement goes into effect.

The average operating levy statewide now is 15.52 mills.

Under the new law 160 "grandfather clause" districts will disappear. The term "grandfather clause" applied to districts guaranteed at least as much additional state aid as they received in 1955.

Those districts provide education only through the eighth grade. Their high school students attend schools in other districts on a tuition basis.

The Legislature enacted a number of new laws affecting schools.

One requires pupils entering public schools next fall to be immunized against polio, whooping cough, lockjaw, smallpox and diphtheria, unless parents object in writing.

Another permits levies up to 10 mills for an indefinite period and those over 10 mills to run for 10 years.

To make it easier for schools to raise operating funds, the Legislature provided for majority approval by voters of levies and bond issues at general elections.

Other enactments would: Require a district receiving a school building through partial annexation to compensate the losing district for a proportionate value of the buildings, based on the number of children annexed.

Permit school boards to charge for driver training education and materials used in special classes.

Authorize the State Board of Education to encourage a voluntary apprenticeship training program to assure the state an adequate work force.

Provide funds for classes attended by children of migrant workers.

Permit teachers to serve on school library boards.

Increase from five to seven the number of trustees for Kent State University.

Water Is Flowing Once Again In New Mexico Town

ROY, N.M. (AP)—Water flowed haltingly, but flowed, into the homes of this thirsty little New Mexico town for the first time in more than five days today, but a new problem has arisen for village officials.

How to pay for a new pump which the town purchased to push water through a leaky seven-mile water main from the town's town wells to its bone-dry storage tank?

"I haven't figured that out yet," said Mayor Robert Keirsey.

A combination of two faulty pumps and a leaky seven-mile water main of low-grade wartime pipe — caused the town's storage tank to go dry last Wednesday.

Roy had money, but none of it could be used for new water works equipment because of a state law which prevents the transfer of earmarked funds.

The state couldn't help because the fund for village emergencies was available only to unincorporated ones. Roy is incorporated.

Many of the 750 villagers worked most of Sunday installing the new pump and patching holes in the leaky main.

Salem's First Physician Was Stanton In 1815

By JAMES MURPHY

In the late fall of 1815, a young man named Benjamin S. Stanton arrived in Salem, then a sprawling village of less than two dozen houses.

There was little to make this North Carolina doctor start his career in such a muddy little crossroads, but never-the-less he did,

and became Salem's first doctor.

Shortly after his arrival, Benjamin Stanton decided to make his home permanently in Salem, and married a pretty school teacher Martha Townsend. Since both were Quakers, the marriage ceremony was held in the original brick meetinghouse which stood on the south side of State St., between Broadway and Ellsworth.

Their first residence was on the present site of the Neon restaurant at the corner of N. Broadway and E. State. After a number of years the doctor and his wife moved one block north to the old brick house now occupied by the Lease Drug Co.

Earl Hankins Shot to Death In Conneaut

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP)—The business manager of the Ashtabula (Ohio) Star-Beacon was shot to death in his home here Sunday night. Police said his wife admitted the shooting.

Earl C. Hankins, 54, was shot once in the back, with a .32 caliber revolver as he was removing his shoes in the basement after mowing the lawn.

Police said his wife, Arleta, 49, gave no motive. She was held without charge in the Ashtabula County jail at Jefferson.

Police said she told them, "All I meant to do was scare him. Coroner C. C. Roller and County Prosecutor Calvin Hutchins assisted in investigating but would give no details. Roller said he would not comment until he had finished his autopsy and Hutchins said he would make no statement while the investigation was pending.

Hankins and his wife, who were married 28 years ago, have a son, David, 25, in Pittsburgh, Pa.

quired. Dr. Stanton's quick reply was: "Well, Edwin, if thy profession requires thee to tell such lies, I think thee had better choose another."

Benjamin Stanton also gained recognition as a literary light during the late 1840's when he wrote a number of essays for the "Literary Circle" and also dabbled in poetry such as "The Matron" written around 1845.

It is interesting to note that all four of his sons later became doctors, beginning a family tradition, although William, one of the four, turned to law and studied under his illustrious cousin, Edwin.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Are American cows getting soft? Are they too contented? They now lag behind the cows of six other countries in milk production. The average U.S. cow produces only 6,300 pounds of milk a year, compared to 9,040 pounds

Motor Car Exerting Influence On Design of American Home

Householders looking for intriguing ideas for their home's entrance way should look an ear towards some interesting observations made by DeWitt C. Robinson, AIA, well known architect of the Pacific Northwest.

"In this motor-borne age when walking shoes are almost as obsolete as the surrey," says Robinson, "a very logical way to enter the home is via the carport. This doesn't necessarily mean that the front door is located within the carport, but rather, that the approach is made in conjunction with it."

There are a number of advantages to having a carport "entrance," Robinson notes, and not the least of them is the overhead protection it offers to arriving guests and family.

Another is the chance it offers to add drama and dimension to a simple house design. "The wide-winged design of the contemporary carport has real aesthetic value," said Robinson. "With its roof usually floating on proudly exposed structural elements — often sweeping glue laminated beams of Douglas fir, backed with fir roof decking of panel-grade beauty, and clean-lined supporting columns — there can be an exciting dramatic impact."

"Modern carport walls are interesting, too. Oftentimes, they're made of highly decorative screens of vertical louvers or ornamental wood grillwork instead of the usual solid wall construction, and they can be extended to become valuable landscape design elements."

Robinson also pointed out that by locating the carport at the front of the home, it will act as a buffer zone between house and street, blocking out traffic noises and insuring more privacy within the home. Then, too, with a street-side carport, householders regain the full use of back and side yards, space which can be developed into living areas. This is no small item in today's outdoor-minded world, said the architect.

Paneling Is Used To Brighten Walls

Not many people think of a hallway as having any decorative possibilities, but this is only because not many folks make an effort to dress up the halls in their home. Attention to the "hidden" areas of a home, like the halls, completes a home, and this is what makes one home more outstanding than another.

Leading decorators say that the most distinctive and easiest way of embellishing a hallway is to panel it in a handsome wood. For an unusual, textured effect, halls can be paneled with Douglas fir white pocket lumber, a wood which has tiny pores scattered over the face of the panel.

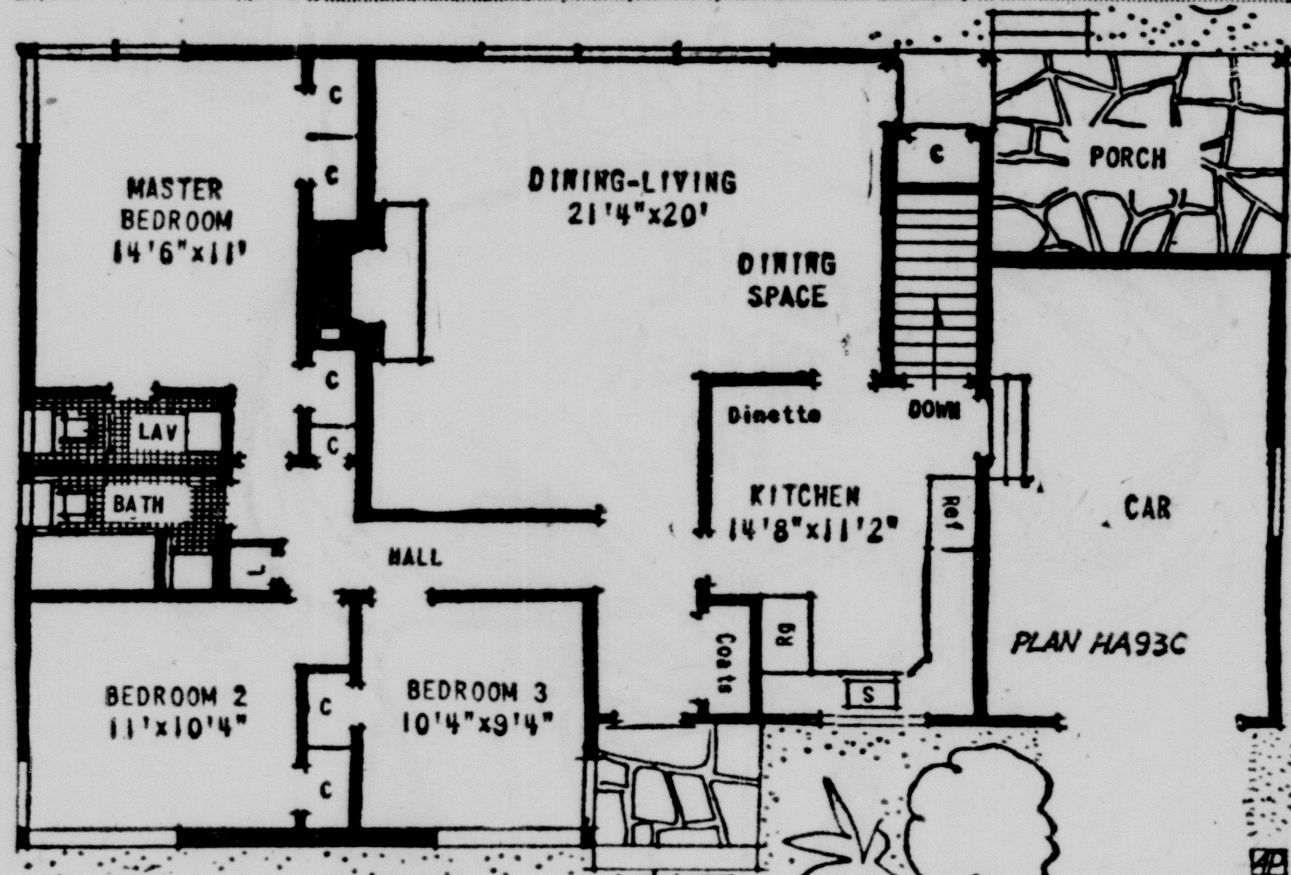

The paneling can be finished with a coat of sealer to bring out the fir's tawny gold coloring, and should be followed by several coats of clear lacquer or rez. Waxing completes the job and makes removal of fingerprints a simple task.

QUESTION: We have moved into a 12-year-old house. It has an oil burner, with which we have had no previous experience. We have been told that it is important to keep the heating plant in good condition to prevent a waste of heat. Can you tell us whether it is better to have the burner taken care of now or wait until the heating season starts?

ANSWER: It is always better to have the unit examined during the summer, so that if any work has to be done there will be no interruption of heat distribution. Many oil burner dealers offer their customers an option of two special plans. One involves an annual cleaning of the boiler or furnace, cleaning of the burner nozzle and strainers, adjusting of the burner, lubrication and other checking and servicing. The other includes the annual cleaning plus all the emergency service calls that may be necessary.

QUESTION: We are thinking of having a house built to order and plan on having it air conditioned. Can you tell us whether air conditioning affects the curing of plaster, the setting of paint and the flooring and other materials in the house?

ANSWER: Under certain conditions, the speedup of curing due to rapid removal of moisture could cause damage. But from a practical standpoint, this does not present a problem because the building materials have adequate time for curing before the air conditioning system is put into operation. Once this proper building schedule has been maintained, air conditioning should assist in preventing interior materials from expanding and contracting as much as in a house without air conditioning. When a house is kept under the same temperature and humidity conditions constantly, there should be fewer cracks in plaster, less warpage and shrinking of woods, and less scaling of paints.

KITCHEN IN FRONT — This three-bedroom ranch design puts the living areas in the rear of the house for improved privacy. The plan covers 1,310 square feet and is HA93C, by Architect Lester Cohen, Rm. 75, 117 West 48th St., New York 36, N.Y.

New Concepts of Doors Catch Eyes Of Home Builders

Floor-to-ceiling doors. And doors that do not even fit into the openings.

These are but two of the new concepts of doors which are getting attention from home building contractors these days. In fact, they have been attracting so much interest at exhibits that door and hardware manufacturers have moved into rapid production to meet expressed and anticipated demands.

In the floor-to-ceiling idea, the door is eight feet high, thus eliminating any wall over the door head, a method of construction said to save both time and money. Adherents of the plan give these other advantages: improved air circulation because of the elimination of air traps and stagnation over the frame; lower maintenance because of an end to the repair of wall cracks that often appear over door openings; and an appearance of extra spaciousness when doors between adjacent rooms are open. Nineteen companies already are featuring floor-to-ceiling doors faced with tempered hardwood, which insures surfaces free of blemishes and able to take a pounding without damage.

The new way of hanging a door is the first departure from the traditional standard hinging, casing, trim and lock set pattern. The door overlays the entire opening in the wall and swings 100 per cent clear of the opening. It opens with a straight push or pull action, with no turning of the knob as in a conventional installation. There is no mortising for hinges or strike, nor are wood joints, stops and face trim required. The latch is mounted in the wall adjacent to the opening. The hinges and a strike are surface-mounted on the door and the pulls are mounted back-to-back on the door. Since the door overlaps the opening, it need not be trimmed to fit exactly. Surface-mounted door hardware for this type of door has been developed by a leading manufacturer of hardware in cooperation with the Research Council of the National Association of Home Builders.

Morale Affected By House Colors

The colors a house wears, inside and out, are important psychologically to the family who occupies it as well as to guests, neighbors, and casual passers-by, says Nancy Rubey, a leading San Francisco color consultant.

Mrs. Rubey, who color styles hundreds of homes annually in the booming San Francisco Bay area, points out that it's a psychological fact that color has the power to lift human morale as well as to depress it.

"Thus," she says, "good, tasteful colors inside—colors that aren't too warm and sharp or too cool and dull—actually have an uplifting effect on members of the entire family during their hours at home."

A similar color psychology applies outside, too, Mrs. Rubey adds. "A carefully chosen exterior color scheme with roof, trim and sidewalls that are harmonious without being garish can actually make the house seem more inviting to arriving guests as well as to members of the family coming home from work or school."

Mrs. Rubey points out that in color styling a house, she often selects the color of the asphalt roof shingles as a "key" from which to choose harmonizing colors for sidewalls, trim, and accents.

Neighbors and passers-by also are affected by the color of an individual house, Mrs. Rubey says. "This may sound farfetched," she explains, "but drab, dull colors on the roof and sidewalls actually can make strangers decide subconsciously that the people who live there are dull and drab, too."

Weatherstripping In Door Frame Really Does Job

An important new development in home building today is a new door frame with built-in weatherstripping.

The new door frame, made of ponderosa pine, has weatherstripping of fabric-covered wood along both sides and the top. The strip is backed by a hidden metal tension spring that keeps it in constant weather-tight contact with the door, sealing out cold drafts in

All Muddled Up In The Middle

A new kind of political corporation in New Jersey may be industry's answer to the labor unions' success in politics.

The New Jersey organization — New Jersey Organization for a Better State (New Jobs, for short) — will act as an industrial counterpart to the unions' political action committees.

It is part of a growing national movement to offset union influence in politics with more systematic industrial influence. Industrialists everywhere are giving earnest thought to ways and means of doing this. They are considering plans to give certain key employees more latitude in political activities. The importance of the New Jersey plan is that it would let industries act jointly as a fund-raising agency to help political candidates underwrite the cost of campaigning, in the same way that unions make money available for candidates favorable to their interests.

The unions prefer to think of what they do as "education." The New Jersey organization would put its emphasis on promotion of more job opportunities in the state. Although it has been organized by New Jersey residents identified with the Republican party, it is officially nonpartisan. This, also, is copied from unionism, which is officially nonpartisan but almost never deviates from straight party-line support of Democratic candidates.

According to the rule that every force creates a counter force and every new weapon is offset by a counterweapon, unionism's political activity was bound to be balanced eventually by a stepped-up rate of management activity. That is as it should be—but it raises a troublesome doubt.

If politics is going to turn into a running feud between labor unions and management, who is going to speak for the interests of citizens who are not committed to the blind support of either side? This is the kind of stratification in politics that has been avoided under the two-party system — an emerging pattern of a kind of political division that could undermine and destroy the two-party system.

It is another problem for the man in the middle — the moderate — the citizen who does not see public issues as clear divisions between black-and-white extremes.

The traditional two-party system gave him a place of refuge with others who had the same problem. Each party contained within itself all extremes of opinion. But there is no place in the new setup for anyone who tries to see things whole. The new groups are refuges for extremists only. The man in the middle is in a muddle, with no place to go.

Now We Must Save Rail Commuters

Every motorist in the United States has a stake in a special session of the New Jersey Legislature that begins next Monday. It will consider a proposal by New Jersey Gov. Robert B. Meyner to divert surplus income from the motorist-supported New Jersey Turnpike to improve railroad service and rail equipment. The object is to save some 100,000 rail commuters who go back and forth between New Jersey and New York City.

But before every motorist who uses a toll road splits the fee between the service he uses and some service he never expects to use there is a question no one ever answers when it's time to save rail commuters in New Jersey, in New York, in Illinois, in Cleveland, Ohio, where federal grants have been used to build rail lines, or anywhere else.

What is the commuter doing to save himself?

And if he doesn't want to save himself, why should he be saved?

Railroad commuter service has gone to pot

We Must Make The Most Of It

Remember the first robin?

That's the one observant old ladies spot about the time professional baseballers go to spring training camp at the tail end of winter.

There's a last robin, too — the one nobody talks about. But if anyone talked about the last robin, it would be the one that sits on a branch near the ruins of its summer nest and wonders when to pull out for Central America.

The modern way to tell when it's time for this is to watch the sports pages for word that the professional footballers have gone to fall training camps. That means there's not enough left of summer to feel cheerful about any more, just as baseball camps means there's not enough left of winter to feel dismal about any more.

Self-Confidence In West Berlin

Instead of stewing and steaming over the hot stove of international diplomacy, the Western world could take a page from the West Berliners' cook book.

The West Berlin "cooks," long ware of their precarious position and their experience in the iron rations of the blockade of 10 years ago, have undertaken impressive preparations to meet any future food crisis.

Enough food in the form of huge stockpiles has been laid aside to feed the entire 2½-million population, on the average basic calorie rate, for at least nine months. It is estimated that this could be extended to one year, on an emergency basis. To date the cost has exceeded 600 million dollars, in both the frozen and the many new forms of dehydrated products.

Since 1949 the water supply system has been developed to the point where ample drinking, cooking and washing water would be available. The city is independent today in the production of gas and electricity. There are sufficient quantities of oil available to last two years.

Medical and health preparations have not been overlooked. Ration books are ready. Even industry has been checked to assure production almost unhindered.

The Russians of course are fully aware of these enormous preparations and would hardly risk arousing world resistance with a campaign of starvation. Even if they should, the confidence of the people of Berlin in their future is a heartening factor in the present tense situation. If the citizens of the Western world had equal confidence and foresight, there would be less need for tranquilizers.

Once Over

Carrying out this writer's semiannual interviews with the Man Who Built a Better Mousetrap, we contacted him and found he, too, has troubles. "Inflation has hurt me," he said. "The cost of holes in mousetraps has gone up 80 per cent."

I decided to use fewer holes but ran into labor disputes. The hole cutters demanded more holes, not fewer. They claimed that a man had to have the right to cut twice as many holes as in the old days in order to keep employment at high levels.

"Was there a strike?" we asked. "The mousetrap crisis is before federal mediators," he replied. "If there's a strike by the hole cutters, the spring makers and cheese hook boys will go out in sympathy. I've been bothered by jurisdictional issues, too. My mousetrap painters demanded that they must be consulted by the hole cutters on the size of all holes."

"Any merger troubles?" we asked. "Yeah. I wanted to keep abreast of the trend, so I thought of merging with National Catnip, Federated Cheese Products, Inc., Universal Moth Killer and North American Roach Exterminator. But some of my crazy directors wanted to buy into U.S. Buffalo Hunts and Canadian Moose Enterprises. This was carrying diversification too far. You can't get a buffalo or moose into a mousetrap."

"Any fringe benefit disputes?" "That's my real headache. What part of a mousetrap constitutes the fringe?" he asked.

"How do the mice stand on this point?" we inquired.

"Mice are smarter than they used to be. They won't commit themselves and get into disfavor with anybody."

Fellow Traveler

Weather Afflictions

By JAMES G. SPAULDING

Why do some arthritics feel it in their bones when a storm is on the way? Is it a change in humidity, in barometric pressure or some yet unknown weather factor?

One doctor, an arthritis sufferer, can forecast with considerable accuracy the arrival of a storm center that is several hundred miles away—before barometer and humidity changes occur.

A variety of diseases besides arthritis tend to flare up before the arrival of a storm, low pressure air mass. Among them are asthma, angina pectoris, glaucoma and migraine headache. The reason is unknown.

From the beginning of life, climate influences body function. The temperate zone, with its sharp seasonal weather variations severely challenges body metabolism and other adaptive mechanisms.

This is thought to be a major reason for the greater vigor and energy of norther residents. However, it also is believed that the human engine, running hotter and faster in the north, breaks down sooner.

Degenerative diseases have an earlier and higher incidence in the north. Metabolic diseases are easier to control and have fewer complications in warm, even climates, northerners with mild diabetes sometimes find they can do without drugs when they move to the South.

TEMPERATURE EXTREMES appear to precipitate heart attacks. In Dallas, Tex., there are more in July and August, when the daytime thermometer reading commonly exceeds 95 degrees. In Milwaukee heart attacks are more common in midwinter.

Stormy weather increases the incidence of pulmonary embolism, a condition in which clots that have formed in deep veins break loose and migrate to the network of vessels in the lungs. It is as if the storm shakes loose the clots, which might have remained in place in calmer weather.

The seasonal nature of many diseases has become accepted, although the reasons are mostly unknown. Why, for instance, do poliomyelitis epidemics follow hot weather?

Measles is a spring disease but again the reason is unknown. Why has whooping cough a year round incidence? It is suspected that weather influences the virulence of some germs as well as the susceptibility of the patient.

CERTAIN DISEASES have a particularly low incidence in the tropics. Rheumatic fever is an example and in this instance the reason is known. The disease follows a particular kind of streptococcus respiratory infection. Respiratory infections are unusual in the tropics.

Recent British studies indicate that humidity is an important factor in air borne epidemics, such as Asian flu, both in the tropics and in temperate zones.

The influence of humidity on air borne contagious diseases made it possible to forecast when Asian flu would become epidemic here. Its incidence rose sharply soon after the first cool dry weather in October.

The effect of weather on human behavior is striking, if mysterious. Restlessness, inability to concentrate and irritability are often observed before a storm. This is particularly noticeable in mental hospitals.

"The day before a storm," a Milwaukee psychiatrist said, "the joint is really jumping."

A psychiatrist at a state mental hospital said that the disturbing effect of an approaching storm is obvious to a doctor the moment he steps into a ward. The tension is almost tangible, he said.

Nixon In The U.S.S.R.

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Whether or not Khrushchev, muddled as he is by his own propaganda and his ignorance of American conditions, and the Russian people, brainwashed for 40 years, can comprehend what Vice President Nixon told them on Sunday, it was a speech conveying the mind and heart of the American people.

This was especially true when he said: "Dedication to peace, god will and human brotherhood should never be mistaken for weakness, softness and fear. Much as we want peace, we will fight to defend our country and our way of life just as you have fought so courageously to defend your homeland throughout your history."

"The peace we want and the peace the world needs is not the peace of surrender but the peace of justice, not peace by ultimatum, but by negotiation."

Also, it was stressed that the policies of our government are at one with the aspirations of the American people: "Those who claim that the policies of the American government do not represent and are not supported by the American people are engaging in a completely inaccurate and dangerous form of self-deception. Any administration which follows policies which do not reflect the views of our people on major issues runs the risk of defeat at the next election."

"The reason the leaders of both our major political parties are united in supporting President Eisenhower's foreign policies is that they are reflecting the views of a people who are united behind these policies."

SINCE IN COMMUNIST propaganda both from Moscow and Peking the things shown and claimed as accomplishments are not the things enjoyed by their people, Nixon underlined another point. This was aimed directly at a Russian people still pinched by vast warlike preparations and denied, again and again, the consumer abundance promised by successive MOREOVER, the Nixon visit represents the nearest thing to a Summit confrontation that Khrushchev is likely to get for some time. The Soviet boss believes that Nixon will be the next president, and hence that the Nixon attitude will be the American position for some years to come.

Whether this belief of Khrushchev is correct is not at the moment important. The fact is that he believes it.

Nixon will represent no mere reportorial visitor, no hi-fi instrument to play back Khrushchev's rumblings to the American public. That was the weakness of ex-Gov. Averell Harriman's role when he visited Moscow. Nor is Nixon made of the same fiber as Harriman.

The former New York governor is personally a man who hates face-to-face encounter when anything unpleasant is under consideration. He has always been that way. He does his threatening through channels or after the event. As no doubt the Soviet ruler planned, Harriman came back and proclaimed to Americans the threats of Khrushchev as a deadly serious matter.

It was somewhat the same in the case of Adlai Stevenson, whose faith in words kindled a flare of hope for accommodation.

The American public is sick and tired of Geneva, of Gromyko and of the endless roundelay of talk at the foreign minister's level. It will relish a bit of realism for a change.

Captive Nations Week

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Khrushchev Has Denounced Ike's Proclamation

Nikita Khrushchev has unwittingly contributed to his own spectacular defeat in the court of public opinion throughout the world. The resolution passed by Congress and the President's proclamation in answer thereto, designating the third week in July as "Captive Nations Week," might have gotten scant attention but, thanks to the Soviet Premier, the proclamation now has been publicized everywhere. He has denounced it and has thereby opened up a debate as to whether the satellite nations are "captive" and "enslaved."

The Soviet autocrat says that only the "capitalist" countries are "enslaved" but he ignores the fact that free elections are not held anywhere behind the Iron Curtain and that only governmental rulers handpicked by the Kremlin are in office, while the dissenters are dead or in jail.

Small wonder the resolution, which passed by overwhelming vote of both parties in the Senate and House earlier this month, got under Khrushchev's skin. It was the boldest, most forthright statement issued in a long time concerning the fate of the "captive" nations.

It is reminiscent of the phrases used in the crusade begun by John Foster Dulles in 1952, when he called for the peaceful "liberation" of the satellite states in Eastern Europe. It is in line with the traditional policies of the United States for decades past which have expressed sympathy with the aspirations of oppressed peoples.

THE LANGUAGE of the resolution passed by Congress constitutes the most severe indictment of Soviet imperialism that has been proclaimed in a long time by any country of the West.

The full text follows: "WHEREAS the greatness of the United States is in large part attributable to its having been able, through the democratic process, to achieve a harmonious national unity of its people, even though they stem from the most diverse of racial, religious, and ethnic backgrounds; and

"WHEREAS this harmonious unification of the diverse elements of our free society has led the people of the United States to possess a warm understanding and sympathy for the aspirations of peoples everywhere and to recognize the natural interdependency of the peoples and nations of the world; and

"WHEREAS the enslavement of a substantial part of the world's population by Communist imperialism makes a mockery of the idea of peaceful coexistence between nations and constitutes a detriment to the natural bonds of understanding between the people of the United States and other peoples; and

"WHEREAS since 1918 he imperialistic and aggressive policies of Russian Communism have resulted in the creation of a vast empire which poses a dire threat to the security of the United States and of all the free peoples of the world; and

"WHEREAS the imperialistic policies of Communist Russia have led, through direct and indirect aggression, to the subjugation of the national independence of Poland, Hungary, Lithuania, Ukraine, Czechoslovakia, Latvia, Estonia, White Ruthenia, Romania, East Germany, Bulgaria, Mainland China, Armenia, Azerbaijan, Georgia, North Korea, Albania, Idel-Ural, Tibet, Cossackia, Turkmenistan, North Vietnam and others; and

"WHEREAS these submerged nations look to the United States, as the citadel of human freedom, for leadership in bringing about their liberation and independence and in restoring to them the enjoyment of their Christian, Jewish, Moslem, Buddhist or other religious freedoms and of their individual liberties; and

"WHEREAS it is vital to the national security of the United States that the desire for liberty and independence on the part of the peoples of these conquered nations should be steadfastly kept alive; and

"WHEREAS the desire for liberty and independence by the overwhelming majority of the people of these submerged nations constitutes a powerful deterrent to war and one of the best hopes for a just and lasting peace; and

"WHEREAS it is fitting that we clearly manifest to such peoples through an appropriate and official means the historic fact that the people of the United States share with them their aspirations for the recovery of their freedom and independence; Now, therefore, be it

"RESOLVED by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the President of the United States is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation designating the third week in July 1959 as 'Captive Nations Week' and inviting the people of the United States to observe such week with appropriate ceremonies and activities. The President is further authorized and requested to issue a similar proclamation each year until such time as freedom and independence shall have been achieved for all the captive nations of the world."

THE PRESIDENT in his proclamation repeated the phrases of the resolution and formally called on the American people to observe the week "with appropriate ceremonies and activities" and he urged people everywhere "to study the plight of the Soviet-dominated nations and to recommit themselves to the support of the just aspirations of the peoples of these captive nations."

Khrushchev insists now that all this is a "direct interference in the Soviet Union's internal affairs" and that it interferes with the possibility of "improving relations between the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R."

The truth is that, as long as autocracy prevails anywhere, the world cannot be a safe place for free peoples. For at any moment such an autocracy can launch a war of aggression. Only when all peoples are their own masters can there be an assurance of permanent peace.

Positive Prejudice

By TRUMAN TWILL

Whenever I get tired of thinking about prejudices against people, things and ideas, I can get almost as worried thinking about prejudices for people, things and ideas.

Positive prejudices can do just as much harm as the negatives, ones that people complain about. They can do more harm, because some are subtler and slicker and harder to detect.

I am worried about the positive prejudice that makes it impossible for some persons to vote against candidates who profess a certain religious faith, or who proclaim memberships in certain fraternal organizations.

I am referring to the habit of not standing up for members of occupational groups, labor unions, military organizations, with no regard for any circumstance other than that of membership.

I am complaining about the idea that persons who were born in certain sections of the country, such as Texas, the Deep South, New England, or the Middle West should be given the automatic support of others born in the same place, or who have developed a prejudice for all persons born in these places.

I am registering a squawk against pulling the old buddy-buddy act based on attendance at the same college, or membership in the same fraternity, or the same club. Loyalty to friends is one thing, but loyalty to people who merely happen to have gone to school at the same place is something else.

I am putting up a bleat against prejudice for those in the same social and economic groups, such as prejudice shown by laboring men for laboring men, by professional men for professional men etc., because this is contrary to the all-American rule that people should be judged for who they are, not for what they do for a living.

I am making a beef against the racial origin prejudice for people, things and ideas, because this has done great injury to representative democracy, especially in cities and states where politicians exploit nationality voting.

I applaud all projects to eliminate negative prejudice, because its net effect is to subtract a percentage of the potentiality of a free society.

It always has seemed absurd to me that people and their thoughts should be handicapped by blind resistance because of some association or identity with no bearing on what they might be able to contribute to the general welfare.

But it is just as absurd that people should be accepted for no better reason than that they were born in a certain place, speak a certain language, belong to a particular church, or are associated with this or that organization.

That is prejudice, too — positive prejudice, the kind that warps minds for, instead of against.

It is as harmful in the long run as the other kind, and I reserve the right to resent it whenever I run across it. And that goes double for people who try to tell me I must get rid of my negative prejudices so they can have a shoo-in with their positive ones.

I suspect they are trying to con me into dropping my guard so they can hop me a good one in the kisser.

Liquor Control Academy Set Up

43 Field Agents In Tough 6-Week Course

By DUANE E. CROFT
News Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — "When they get done, they'll know a lot more about their jobs than I do."

Speaking was Ivan W. Smith, enforcement chief of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control.

He was referring to the 43 field agents enrolled in the department's new training academy.

The intensive six-week course is no snap for the students, many of whom have not been in a formal classroom for years. The youngest is 23, the oldest 39.

MORE THAN 30 instructors, all experts in their fields, are spooning out large doses of information on subjects ranging from investigative techniques to geography and spelling.

Although the students' schedule is based on a 40-hour week — classes run from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. with time out for lunch — their daily activities often start with calisthenics at 6:30 a.m. and end at 10:30 p.m. after an hour or so of evening "homework."

Several nights a week they spend an hour after dinner learning the tricks of self-defense, disarming prisoners and judo.

"Our goal is to do more than instruct them in the tool of their trade," the young enforcement chief said.

"We want to develop an esprit de corps, the sort of tradition that distinguishes the Federal Bureau of Investigation. We want them to feel their work is more than just a salaried job."

SMITH SAID he and his staff also are learning from the course.

"It's helping us to find out more about the men we have in the field and the types of men who make the most effective and enthusiastic agents," he said.

Site of the academy is the Youth Center on the Ohio State Fairgrounds, a vast building ideally suited for such use. The students eat, sleep and relax as well as study without leaving the place.

Except on weekends, when they are allowed to go to their homes around the state, the men cannot leave the center without permission. Their rigorous schedule apparently doesn't leave them with much desire to wander elsewhere.

THE STUDENTS are both new recruits and veteran agents who held provisional status and were reappointed after a recent civil service examination.

"We got a lot of griping from the 'old' agents when we brought them into Columbus for the course," Smith confessed.

"But these men are now among the most enthusiastic about what they are doing. They're also doing the best work."

"That's not surprising to us. We selected them because we thought that would be the result."

"We didn't bring them here because we thought they were particularly deficient, but because we thought they were worth the investment."

THE LIST of subjects they are studying is staggering in its scope and variety.

It includes such topics as fingerprinting, English grammar, Ohio court structure, public and press relations, the Constitution and Bill of Rights, law of arrest and evidence, juvenile enforcement problems, first aid, search and seizure, Ohio geography, spelling, report writing, criminal statutes, public speaking, testifying in court, state, local and federal government, penal institutions, gambling and narcotics.

And that's only a partial list.

THEN THERE ARE special sessions where mock trials are staged, professional attitudes and ethics are discussed informally or actual hearings before the Board of Local Control are observed.

Rooms at the Youth Center have been equipped with typewriters for transcribing classroom notes ("to teach neatness and orderly thinking," Smith said) and with confiscated pinball and slot machines ("to teach them how to spot an innocent-looking machine as an illegal device").

Meals are provided by a caterer under contract and are prepared in the center's modern kitchen.

"They're not fancy, just wholesome," Smith admitted.

THE ENFORCEMENT chief added that special attention is given to the diets of overweight students, who are required to slim down for the sake of both good health and appearance.

When the students complete their six weeks of training, they will be treated to a formal graduation ceremony.

Smith said Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has promised to try to arrange his schedule so he can be present to administer their oaths himself.

Then the recruits will be assigned to veteran agents in the field for on-the-job training for six weeks.

That will complete their 90-day probationary period and they will be given permanent civil service status and assigned to their posts.

SMITH SAID all future recruits in the enforcement division will be required to take the course, which will be conducted whenever there is a large enough group.

The experienced field men will be brought in for parts of the course, he said, to review what they already know and give them new ideas.

The enforcement division now has 90 agents, Smith said. Its budget appropriation for the biennium just started entitles it to go up to 110 men the first year and 120 the second.

"We probably won't fill the quota, however," the chief said. "We'd rather go light-handed than weaken the division's effectiveness by not being selective enough."

Ike Offers Sabbath Prayer for People Under Oppression

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower returns to Washington today after having joined in a Sabbath prayer parading his captive nations proclamation.

The President arranged to leave his farm by helicopter for the 40-minute trip to the White House. He and Mrs. Eisenhower spent the weekend at their country place.

At Presbyterian services in Gettysburg Sunday, Eisenhower and the rest of the congregation joined the pastor in a prayer for those living under the tyranny of oppression and persecution.

The minister, the Rev. Robert A. MacAskill also prayed further for "alleviation of the plight and suffering of so many so dominated."

The pastor made no specific mention of the Presidents captive nations proclamation which last week roused the ire of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and other Kremlin leaders. But the minister told newsmen after the service that his prayer prompted by that proclamation.

After the services the President went to the Gettysburg Country Club for his third 18-hole round of golf in as many days.

13-Year-Old Boy Shoots His Parents

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP) — A handicapped 13-year-old boy was held for psychiatric examination today after he shot his father and mother with a high-powered rifle.

Gordon Ellis, a hare-lipped cripple with a cleft palate, told officers he used a 30-30 rifle on his sleeping parents because:

His father had "bawled him out" for failing to run an errand. His parents had refused to buy him a motor scooter, and

They wouldn't let him go to his grandmother's home to watch television.

His father, Ted Ellis, and mother, Charlotte, lay in Tucumcari General Hospital in serious condition. The father was shot in the cheek and left shoulder, Mrs. Ellis in the right shoulder and hip.

The first question young Ellis asked officers when they arrived near midnight Saturday after the shooting was reported was: "Do you think I'll get a spanking?"

West Germany's population now includes millions who fled the Eastern European satellites, most of them young people.

he asked, after introducing himself.

"Yes," said Miss Cass.

"Are you being paid?"

"Yes."

"I hereby convict you on view for violation of the Sunday blue laws." He handed her a notice.

"Why I've never won a thing, and I'd rather not win this," the actress joked.

But, like the others, she must, according to the notice, appear today before Dougherty and pay a $4 fine plus $9 costs.

Dougherty's tour came at a time when the State House is considering a Senate-passed bill increasing the fine for violating the 1794 blue laws to $100 for the first offense and $200 for each subsequent offense. The purpose is to discourage merchants who consider the $4 fine a business expense.

Dougherty conducted a similar tour last Sunday, issuing 66 conviction notices. This brought criticism from Dist. Atty. Paul Beckert of Bucks County. Beckert pointed out that Dougherty is allowed to keep the $9 costs.

"All you have to do is multiply 66 by $9 costs and you have $594," Beckert said. "That's a good issue at all."

Justice Spends Sunday Serving Conviction Papers

BRISTOL, Pa. (AP) — "There's more than one way to skin a cat," figured Justice of the Peace Earl B. Dougherty. That, he said, is the theory he applied Sunday to Pennsylvania's Sunday blue laws.

Dougherty spent the day driving through Bucks County, just north of Philadelphia, handing out 159 conviction-on-sight notices. The recipients included actress Peggy Cass, two toll booth collectors, a radio announcer, numerous plant guards, a druggist, a newspaper, and the reporters and photographers following him.

"I'm actually against the Sunday blue laws," Dougherty said. "They're chaotic and outmoded and if they were strictly enforced would strangle Pennsylvania's entire economy."

"I'm a justice of the peace and it's my duty to enforce the law. So I did."

He reached the Bristol Playhouse, a summer theater, during the first act intermission and asked to see Miss Cass.

"Are you worldly employed?"

lowed to keep the $9 costs.

Miss Carolyn Mae Bauman Is Bride of Dean A. Conrad

The marriage vows of Miss Carolyn Mae Bauman of North Lima and Dean A. Conrad of Columbiana were spoken in a candlelight ceremony Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the North Lima Mennonite Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas G. Bauman of North Lima are the bride's parents. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Conrad of Columbiana.

The church minister, David C. Steiner, officiated at the ceremony before an altar banked with palms and enhanced by two vases of gladioli.

A men's quartet from Louisville sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer." Other traditional nuptial melodies were included in the recorded organ music of John Yoder.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She wore a waltz-length gown of rose petite schiffli embroidered nylon tulle over net and taffeta with fitted bodice and long pointed sleeves.

Her fingertip veil was attached to a crown of sequins and pearls, and the white Bible she carried was covered with an arrangement

Tribe Takes Two From Nats 9-0 and 4-3 to Regain First

Perry Allows Just Two Hits

Grant Wins Nightcap On 12th Inning Hit

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rolling in high gear again—and willing at home now—the Cleveland Indians have a chance tonight to add to their newly regained, but slim first place margin in the American League.

The Indians took a half-game advantage over the Chicago White Sox by beating the Washington Senators in a doubleheader Sunday, 9-0 and 4-3. The second game went 12 innings. Jim Perry made his second major league start in the opener and fired a two-hit shutout.

Jim Baxes broke up the tense nightcap with a two-out single to left field in the 12th inning, scoring Minnie Minoso from second base.

Cleveland shoots for six in a row tonight with Herb Score (9-8) facing Jerry Casale (6-6) of the Boston Red Sox in the opener of a five-game series.

The Tribe has won nine of its last 11 games and with the winning streak present a 27-22 won-lost mark at Municipal Stadium. On the road, strangely enough, the mark is even better—29-17.

Taking charge all the way, Perry was superlative in the opener. The only hits off him were a fourth inning infield single by Lenny Green and a pinch double by Julio Becquer in the ninth. He walked only two men and pushed his season's record to 6-2.

Woodie Held provided most of the offensive support with two home runs (No. 18 and 19) and two singles. He drove in four runs.

The nightcap was no breeze, despite Rocky Colavito's 30th home run with two aboard in the first inning off Pedro Ramos. After that the Cuban right-hander blanked the Indians for 10 innings—until the 12th.

But Bobby Locke, another of Cleveland's fuzzy-cheeked (25 years old) youngsters, was pitching just as well as Ramos. The Senators scored two runs off him in the fourth and one in the sixth on a double by Roy Sievers and Faye Throneberry's sacrifice fly. That tied it 3-3.

Locke gave up only six hits before he was lifted for a pinch-hitter when Cleveland threatened in the 11th inning. The threat fizzled when Tito Francona struck out in a pinch-hitting role, to snap his 17-game hitting streak.

The Indians finally broke through Ramos in the 12th and sent him to his 12th defeat in 22 decisions. Minoso doubled to right—center with one out. Colavito was purposely passed. George Strickland fouled out. Then Baxes lined his big hit to left and Minoso slid home with the decisive run.

Vic Power, with a hit in each game, extended his batting streak to 13 games and raised his average to .305.

Jim Grant (6-4) set the Senators down in order in the 12th to earn his ninth straight victory over Washington in a two-season span. It was his first triumph in more than a month.

The Indians had a big eighth inning in the opener in which they scored five runs. Big blows were Perry's bases-loaded single, a two-run single by Held and Power's triple, which added two more runs.

Jets Turn Back Leafs 6-3, 3-1

Cancellation of Sunday's doubleheader with Rochester because of the routin', tootin'—and shootin'—Castro celebration didn't enhance second-place Havana's position in the International League as it dropped to 7½ games behind front-running Buffalo. The Bisons completed a three-game sweep of Miami, 5-3.

The resurgent Columbus Jets took a doubleheader from Montreal, 6-3 and 3-1, to move into a fourth place tie with Richmond. Joe Gibbon (10-7) and Dick Lines (8-8) pitched the wins.

Winners In Rifle, Pistol Events Listed

Twenty persons participated in the Salem Hunting Club's monthly shoot held Sunday at the club range.

J. Cameron captured first place in the pistol event. Bill Robinson of Ravenna was second and George Crothers of Leetonia placed third. The 22 caliber rifle offhand event went to James Ivan of Salem with Bill Robinson of Ravenna and Mrs. James Ivan runners-up. Raymond Brandt of Winona, James Ivan and O. F. Birkimer of Salem finished in that order in the 22 caliber rifle bench.

The monthly traveling trophies were won by Mrs. Harold Culler and Dave Kirby, both of Salem. Mrs. Culler and James Ivan also won special prizes.

The next shoot is scheduled for Aug. 23 at the club range.

Salem Poloists Beaten By Mahoning 13 to 11

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

One red hot chukker which saw Salem score six goals in seven minutes was not enough to overcome four other periods of listless play as the Salem polo club dropped a 13-11 decision to Mahoning Valley Sunday on the local field.

Mahoning played heady and consistent ball to chop down Salem for the fourth consecutive time this year. The visitors piled up a 5-0 lead before Salem came to life midway in the second chukker.

A long drive by Capt. Jimmy Bahr got the locals rolling. Then two quick goals by Ron Tetemanz closed the gap to 5-3. Mahoning's Curtie Crum broke the spell with his third of five goals for the day.

Salem was not to be denied. It quickly smashed through the Mahoning defenses for four consecutive markers, taking the lead for the first time, 7-6. Phil Thompson got two of the goals as he tapped through fancy setups by Lloyd Brunner and Jack Arnold. Arnold set up another goal for Bahr before getting the tie-breaker himself.

Stan Strauss broke the tie for Mahoning but Brunner and Arnold countered and Salem led 9-7 when the bell ended the first half.

For Salem the game was all but over at this point. Both horses and riders had apparently ridden themselves out the first half. Mahoning put on the pressure and Salem did not score again until the final chukker when it was down 12-9.

Time and again wild swings by Salem players left the ball lying open for the alert Mahoning riders. At one point a weak shot by a Mahoning player trickled through two Salem defense men for a score.

However, the free scoring game provided plenty of excitement for the large crowd which witnessed the contest. Hard riding on several occasions sent riders and their mounts tumbling to the turf. Little Curtie Crum of Mahoning went down hard on two occasions but returned to action both times after short rests.

In the scoring column for Salem, Thompson and Bahr each got three, Arnold and Tetemanz hit two apiece and Lloyd Brunner got one. Tetemanz was playing in place of Jim Watson who quit the team after Wednesday's bruising game in Darlington, Pa.

Crum was tops for Mahoning with five goals. Jack Zedaker accounted for four, Eddie Roberts punched through two and Joe Botack and Strauss each chipped in with one.

Salem's next game is scheduled for Sunday in Cleveland.

SAIDC Remains In First Place

Beat Farmers 5-2; Shaffers In Fourth

Bill Herman was touched for a first inning triple by Jerry Mountz, then settled down to pitch hitless ball the rest of the way as SAIDC clung to first place with a 5-2 win over Farmers Bank in Class AA softball action Saturday at Kelley Park.

Shaffer Ford moved around Farmers into fourth place with a 5-2 victory over Stephanics. Ninth place Demings turned on Herron's Transfer for a surprisingly easy 10-2 win. Farmers literally kicked its ball game away. It booted the ball five times with three of them coming in the first inning when SAIDC scored three runs on just two hits.

Joe Vogehuberl who lasted just one inning, took the loss. Henry Miller relieved him in the second and finished up. Jerry Weizenacker of SAIDC got the game's only home run. The blow came in the fourth inning when the sacks emptied.

Shaffer's made the best of six hits off Glen Mercer to brighten his hopes for a playoff bid. Don Brudery collected two hits including a bases empty homer to pace the winners at the plate. In losing, Stephanics fell two and a half games behind SAIDC with only five games left to play.

Bruce Feicht went the distance for Shaffers giving up seven hits to pick up the win.

Demings, which had won only two games all year, embarrassed Herrons by taking only five innings to turn in its victory. The eight run rule halted the game at the top point.

The Pumpers wasted no time in getting to Herron hurler Benny Roelen, scoring three runs in the first innig on just one hit. The wild innig included a walk, three fielders choices, a passed ball and an error by the catcher.

Wayne Hahn gave up seven hits but scattered them well to get the win. Roelen was tagged with the loss.

In action scheduled for tonight, Shaffer Ford is slated to take on Demings at 6:15. Old Dutch will meet SAIDC at 7:45 and Beloit will tangle with Stephanics in the 9:15 wind up.

Firemen Victorious In Class G Game

Fourth place Fire Department broke open a game and a half lead over its closest rival for a first division berth, Scotts Sports, with a 12-8 win in a Class G Hot Stove make-up game played Saturday at Centennial Park.

The Firemen built up a nine run lead in the first four innings, then staggered the rest of the way to the win. Scotts rallied six times in the final innig but couldn't overcome the big lead.

Mark Malloy and Jackie Rea each had two hits for the winners. Chuck Alexander was the hottest hitter of the day though, pounding out four consecutive singles.

Orioles Split Pair With Sox

Chicago Wins 4-1; Baltimore by 4-0

By The Associated Press Six months ago Jim Perry and Bobby Locke were as widely unknown as Jim Baxes. To suggest that these young men would be largely responsible for boosting Cleveland into the American League lead would have been courting a trip to the booby hatch.

Perry was a good prospect who just had finished a fine season in Class A at Reading, Pa. Locke was in the Army or just getting out. Baxes, packing a little age, was just another infielder in the Los Angeles Dodgers organization.

Because Perry shut out Washington with two hits 9-0 and Baxes singled home the winning run in the 12th inning for a 4-3 victory in the second game on Sunday, the Indians are back on top in the American League. Locke pitched 11 of the 12 innings before giving way to a pinch hitter and Mudcat Grant, a 1958 rookie, picked up the decision.

Perry has all the earmarks of a real find for the Indians. Although his two-hitter was only his second start, it was his sixth victory. The fireballer from Jamesville, N.C. has been brilliant on relief. A pair of home runs by Woody Held, who had four hits, eased his way.

Locke's effort was outstanding for a 25-year-old right-hander who was sent back to the minors from the Tucson, Ariz. spring training camp. He gave up only six hits in 11 innings.

Baltimore dropped Chicago a half game behind Cleveland by winning the second game 4-0 on a combination of Milt Pappas' five-hit pitching and the hitting of Gene Woodling. The veteran outfielder had a three-run homer and drove in another run with a single. Chicago won the opener on Early Wynn's two-hitter, 4-1, and Al Smith's three-run inside-the-park home run.

Detroit dropped the New York Yankees nine games off the pace with a 1-0 victory behind Frank Lary, who has a career record of 20-5 against the Yanks. Neil Chrissy, who had one hit in 21 previous pinch-hitting appearances, lined a 10th inning pinch single off Ryne Duren for the only run.

Kansas City ran its winning streak to seven, the longest for the club since it moved from 5-4. It was the Red Sox' sixth straight defeat.

In the National League, Los Angeles moved within 1½ games of the San Francisco by beating St. Louis 8-2 while the Giants were losing to Chicago 7-3. Milwaukee won a pair from Pittsburgh 4-0 and 2-1. Cincinnati shaded Philadelphia 4-2 in the opener but lost the second 6-3.

The second game at Cleveland was a toughie for Ramos. The Cuban gave up a three-run homer to Rocky Colavito (No. 30) in the first and then blanked the Indians for 10 innings. Baxes' winning single came with two out in the 12th.

NEAT — Karine Cone established a new world record for the 220-yard women's backstroke, 2:37.9. Nothing to it.

Milwaukee Streak At 4 Games

Braves Turn Back Giants 4-0 and 2-1

By The Associated Press No Milwaukee burgher is hanging Fred Haney in effigy today. Nobody is whispering that Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette are over the hill. The Braves are up and at 'em again with a four-game winning streak.

Trailing the league-leading San Francisco Giants by only two games after a sweep of Sunday's doubleheader with Pittsburgh, Milwaukee seems to have

McLish, O'Dell, Pascual Picked For All-Star Tilt

BOSTON (AP) — Pitchers Cal McLish, Billy O'Dell and Camilo Pascual have replaced three other hurlers on the American League squad for the second All-Star game, President Joe Cronin announced today.

The contest will be played at Los Angeles, Aug. 33.

Manager Casey Stengel, field boss of the defending world champion New York Yankees, has inserted Cleveland's McLish, Baltimore's O'Dell and Jim Bunning of Detroit, Whitey Ford of New York and Billy Pierce of Chicago. The latter were on the squad for the first All-Star game at Pittsburgh, July 7, won by the Nationals 5-4.

Stengel also added three outfielders when the squad limit was raised from 25 to 28 players for the second game. The additional fly chasers include Bob Allison of Washington, Kansas City's Roger Maris and Gene Woodling of Baltimore.

Bob Anderson pulled San Francisco back a little closer to the pack as he pitched the Chicago Cubs into fourth place with a 7-3 victory. The Giants' defeat and Los Angeles' 8-2 decision over St. Louis sliced San Francisco's lead to 1½ games.

Cincinnati snapped Philadelphia's five-game winning streak in the first game 4-2 but Gene Conley got the Phils an even break with a 6-3 triumph in the second game when Richie Ashburn led a 14-hit Phil attack.

Cleveland regained the American League lead by taking two from Washington 9-0 and 4-3 in 12 innings while Chicago was splitting two with Baltimore. The White Sox won 4-1 on Early Wynn's two-hitter but lost 4-0. Detroit shaded New York 1-0 behind Frank Lary and Kansas City won its seventh straight, downing Boston, 5-4.

Anderson grew stronger as the game progressed at San Francisco while the Cubs knocked off Mike McCormick in the fifth. Ernie Banks' 27th homer with Art Schult on base helped Chicago get off to an early lead. Willie Mays hit No. 17 for the Giants.

Don Drysdale drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a single and held St. Louis to seven hits while winning his 13th for the Dodgers. The smallest Sunday crowd of the year at the Coliseum, 14,453, saw the Dodgers break out of a hitting slump with 15 hits including homers by Drysdale and Charlie Neal.

Brooks Lawrence, taking over after Don Newcombe left because of a leg injury, beat Robin Roberts in the first game at Cincinnati. Ashburn's four singles in five trips helped hand a fourth defeat on rookie Jim O'Toole.

as they toured the American National Exposition which Nixon formally opened in Moscow Friday.

Because Nixon is all but an avowed candidate for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination, there has been a great deal of speculation in Congress about the political effect of his trip.

Mansfield, who is no Nixon rooter, said he thinks the vice president stands to benefit at home for the way he has conducted himself thus far in a decidedly cool and often hostile atmosphere.

feel it necessary to deny their charges that he is letting the Reds influence his government.

Uptown Havana's vast Civic Plaza was packed with the shouting, cheering throng. Castro told it emotionally that from now on the "symbol of our revolution will be the machete," the long, sharp knife used for cutting sugar cane.

The announcement provoked furious response during which some 400,000 campesinos — farmers — brought from the provinces to swell the demonstration clashed their machetes in unison to add to the general uproar.

Castro made it clear that such mammoth demonstrations will be held whenever it is considered necessary to demonstrate popular support for his policies. That of Sunday, officially celebrating the anniversary of his 26th of July revolutionary movement, was called originally to demonstrate support for his land redistribution program.

Castro claimed it was only the will of the people that persuaded him to resume the premiership he left nine days ago to force the resignation of provisional President Manuel Urrutia.

exchange was helpful "because it provided an opportunity for frank and complete discussions in a calm and objective atmosphere."

A crowd of 1,000 greeted the vice president and his party at the Len ingrad airport. It was nearly three times the number who turned out for their arrival in Moscow last Thursday.

Two American tourists joined the airport and held up a hastily scribbled "Welcome Nixon sign. The vice president was delighted.

Although there was no loud-speaker system, Nixon said in a brief arrival speech he and Krushchev had a "constructive and full discussion of the many problems that we have between our two countries."

"I can say that we had some difference with Chairman Khrushchev at the points at issue. I would say it was not a case of his convincing me or me convincing him."

Nixon went on to tell the crowd, made up mostly of young men and women, and with some sailors in uniform:

"The differences between nations in today's world must be settled at the conference table and not on the battlefield. 'My message to the people of Leningrad, to the American people is this—peace.'"

Nixon used the Russian word for peace.

Most of the crowd remained silent, perhaps because they could not hear the vice president.

Stolen Car Is Found Damaged In City Lot

When David Allison of 665 Ohio Ave. parked his convertible on W. State St. about 10 p.m. Sunday night he expected to find it there when he came back. It wasn't.

The car was located by Allison about 12:30 a.m. Monday in the city parking lot. The top had been torn and half a tank of gas was missing. Police said wires were pulled loose under the dashboard and that whoever took it had apparently crossed the wires to get the car started.

The 55 per cent figure of the Patrol cases would have been diverted into the county general fund, not the city.

Joseph Young, 22, of Mogadore was arrested by patrolmen from the Lisbon post following a three-car wreck on Rt. 30 about 3.5 miles south of Lisbon, at 6 a.m. He was charged with passing without an assured clear distance ahead.

Patrolmen said Young, going south, started to pass a pickup truck driven by John Stanford, 49, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and forced a northbound auto driven by David Schoff, 45, of Pittsburgh, off the road. Schoff hit a guard rail.
